

Sugar-Mate[®]

Rapid Release Energy Supplement for Dairy Cows

Sugar-Mate bolus is filled with calcium and niacin for both pre and post fresh dairy cows during times of metabolic challenges. Sugar-Mate is a dietary supplement that produces rapid release of energy. Oral energy and sugar supplement for use around parturition in fresh dairy cows.

Ingredients:

Sugar, Calcium Propionate, Canola Oil, Niacin, Artificial Color.

Recommended Dose:

Give three to four boluses orally, prior to and/or immediately following calving. Remove boluses from the package. Insert the flat end of the bolus into an appropriate bolus gun and point the round end toward the cow. Insert bolus gun into the back of the cow's mouth and deposit the bolus allowing the animal to swallow. Bolus may block the airway if not properly administered, or if not swallowed. Look for signs of breathing difficulty after administering the bolus. Allow access to water after administration. After each use make sure bolus gun is cleaned immediately following administration.

Cautions:

Do not use excessive force when administering to the cow. Do not administer to down cows, or cows without a normal swallowing reflex. Broken boluses or boluses with sharp edges should not be used. This VHP may not be incorporated into a mixed feed.

Warnings:

For animal use only. Keep out of reach of children, not for human use. No withdrawal period is required when used according to the label. User assumes all risk. WARNING Store product between 40°F | 4°C and 60°F | 15°C product can melt out of formation and will not work properly in a bolus gun if stored outside of the range. Under these conditions product should provide 12 months of shelf life from the manufacturing date shown below.
